Dear Andrew

I have been contacted by a number of constituents regarding mis-selling of fixed rate loans embedding derivatives. These constituents are concerned that others, like themselves, may have significant damage done to their businesses through embedding swaps in fixed term loans. They have suggested that this practice should be the subject of an urgent FCA review.

I would be grateful if you could look into this and provide me with a response that I can share with my constituents.

With best wishes,

Gordon Brown
