

Good morning shareholders of National Australia Bank.

The reason for the UK disaster was not due to the economic downturn.

It was due to Clydesdale forcing the entire UK TBL portfolio into long term fixed rates.

Business customers were locked into long term fixed rates by the threat of fabricated break costs, break costs that did not exist.

Now the the mass fraud has been exposed, NAB desperately attempts to pass on the liability to unsuspecting investors.

David Duffy does not tell you about the tidal wave of court claims and the possibility of government intervention that forces NAB to exit the UK. Perhaps his one and a half million pound bonus has got something to do with it. Ask him about it and watch his face turn white.
